VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN SALES AWAY BEHIND FORMER CAMPAIGNS

Only 33 Per Cent of County Quota Taken up to Saturday Evening

LOCAL SALES ALSO VERY SLOW

"I would regard it as a special compliment if Charleroi should go over the top in this Victory Liberty loan campaign." said Chairman John D. Berryman this morning in speaking of the drive now on for the subscriptions to this final offering of the Government.

Figures show that the eastern area of the county had up to Monday evening subscribed for a total of 697,250 in the Victory Liberty notes according to the returns made to the banks. In the county, according to returns made up to Saturday evening, the returns show a total sale of $2.349,000 out of atotal of over seven million dollars of a quota. This is about 33 per cent of our amount. At thesame period in the fourth Liberty Loan campaign 48 per cent of the six billion offered had been sold. These figures show the radical difference in the two campaigns, and likewise shows the absolute necessity for greater activity on the part of all workers in order that the town may reach its quota.

Chairman Berryman has been much encouraged by the responses made by the special committee of twenty, many of whom have called him by phone and informed him they will do everything in their power to make the campaign a success. Many of them are taking time off from their business to call on people, to solicit thesale of bonds.

Two platform meetings will be held at the Fifth street stadium, one Friday evening and the other Saturday evening. At one of these meetings it is expected that a number of Charleroi's returned soldiers will speak, telling of their experience both in thetraining camps and in active service in Europe. With but four days remaining after today, Chairman Berryman and his various committees are working with all their energy to make this loan a success. Much remains to be accomplished but Chairman Berryman is hopeful that the people will respond and subscribe for bonds to thevery limit.

Notice.

The Veteran Guard, the boys of '61 to '65. will meet at the P. R. R. station at 11:30 a. m.. Wednesday, May 7. to escort the United States Marines, to the Hotel Wilbur. All returned sailors, soldiers and marines are respectfully invited to join us.

"RED" HASTINGS MAKES VISIT TO CHARLEROI

Elliott Hastings, more familiarly known as "Red" who served during the war as a member of the University of Pittsburg base hospital unit, and who returned to the United States last Friday, was a visitor in Charleroi Monday evening with his uncle, E. W. Hastings. While at the University he was famed as one of Pitt's best football players, and will enter again next year to finish his course. It is his expectation to be back on the football team.

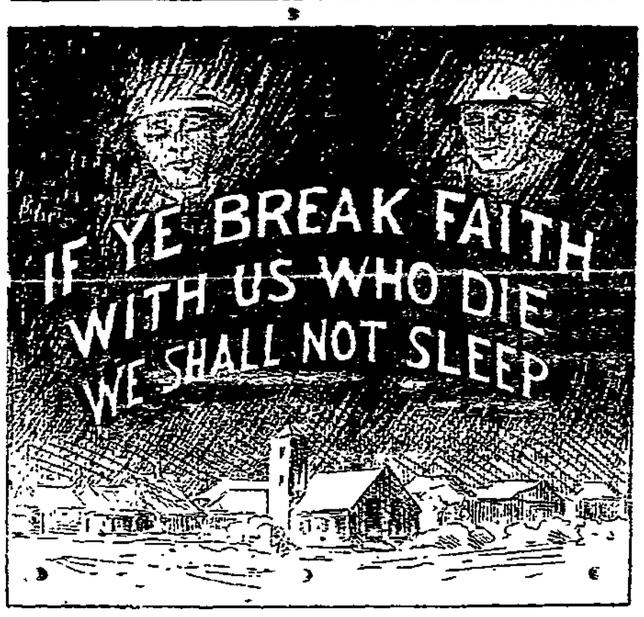
The Victory Loan?



HE DID IT!

Did you notice the lithe, tanned, clean limbed, clear eyed young fellow swinging along up-street this morning with springy step and shoulders squared like a Comanche Indian?

Possibly you didn't notice the little wound stripe on his sleeve. Certainly you never suspected that he had been wounded.

He wasn't parading the fact. He was simply boyishly glad that he was living. The old world looked mighty good to him.

He had seen it under conditions he would like to forget.

That's the boy, along with some half a million like him. who did it.

Threw the fear of God into the heart of the Hun!

Forced him to sue for peace; to slink back across the Rhine!

Forget his ambitions for world dominion; his designs upon the world!

And every other American who donned the khaki is just a little bit disgruntled that he too didn't get up to the firing line.

That is the universal spirit of the boys who made up the American army of the defenders of democracy, freedom, justice.

There were no slackers there!

There will be no slackers among them when it comes to the Victory-Liberty Loan. They will stand for America all the way.

Let's trust that they will inoculate the greater army of American stay-at-homes with the same spirit of patriotism. That their example will not be lost upon the American consciousness. That we will all get into the line and keep step with the fellows who did it.

They did their part every minute. Finished right.

Let's do ours. fellow stay-at-homes. Let's not let these boys put us to shame.

Let's put this Victory-Liberty Loan over the top.

As they put the Hun over the Rhine.

Boy Scouts Booming The Visit of The Marines

The Charleroi Boy Scouts, under direction of D. R. Hormell visited all the surrounding towns today, distributing hand bills announcing the visit of the United States Marines to Charleroi on Wednesday. The Scouts had details in Ellsworth and Bentleyvile, Belle Vernon, Speers, Monessen, Donora and Monongahela; all of which towns are expected to send large delegations to see the exhibition to be given by the "Devil Dogs."

A band has been engaged for the occasion and will be present to escort the Marines to the ball park, where the exhibition will take place. The program outlined for the detachment has not been changed in any way, the special visit to Roscoe being one of the features of the day. Roscoe, due to circumstances over which it has no control. has been missed by many features in the Liberty Loan compaigns, but Chairman Daly, when the opportunity offered, determined that this town should not be left out altogether, hence theside trip of the Marines to our neighboring up-river town.

The ball park is expected to be crowded to the limit to see the exhibition which the Marines will offer. and it no doubt will furnish quite a stimulant to the local campaign.

ANDREW GRAYLOCK ARRESTED FOR A MURDER AT TURTLE CREEK

BROWNSVILLE WILL WITHDRAW CHARGE

Brownsville citizens propose to ask for the withdrawal of the complaint against the Greensboro Gas Company of the ready-to-serve charge, which was made to the Public Service Commission. This action was taken at a public meeting held in Brownsville last Friday evening. A petition containing 600 names, and which had been circulated by a woman's committee, was presented to the committee that has been representing the Brownsville and South Brownsville boroughs in the fight.

BASEBALL SEASON TO OPEN SATURDAY

Weather permitting the local baseball season will open in Charleroi on Saturday afternoon next, at which time the home team will have as its opponents the celebrated Pittsburg Collegians. The local grounds will be put in good shape during the week if the weather continues favorable, and members of the team will spend a great deal of their spare time in the evening in practice, in order to be ready for the opener. Manager Osborne expects to have a strong team this year, and with war conditions removed will not have the same trouble as experienced last year in holding a team together. Moreover a renewed interest in base ball promises to make the present season one of the most successful in the history of the club.

Manager Osborne has booked some strong attractions for the season, among them being the Ambridge, Aluminum and Allegheny Steel, which will likely play twilight games. These three teams are among the strongest semi-professional nines in this section of the state and are sure to draw large crowds.

Charged With Being Implicated in Holdup and Death of Officer

CAMPBELL IS ALSO INVOLVED

Two men who, Allegheny county detectives claim, know something about the hold-up in the Mirror restaurant, Turtle Creek, April 4th, when Policeman Robert M. Hamilton was shot and killed, were arrested Sunday and are being held in the Washington county jail. The men are Andrew Graylock of Charleroi and Charles Campbell of Newell.

According to the Allegheny county detectives, Graylock has been identified as one of the holdup men. The identification is said to have been made by Peter Sampus, a Greek, who was employed in the restaurant as a cook.

Both of these men were arrested a couple of weeks ago by the police of Charleroi for complicity in the Boehme murder and have been held in jail pending the arrest of two other men who are now being searched for by the State police as well as by the local officers. Campbell was arrested at Newell by Officer Lake of California on instructions from the Charleroi police, while Graylock was arrested in a down town pool room by local officers just as he was on the point of leaving the community for other scenes. When the officers came in at the front door Graylock tried to escape through the rear, where he was met by another officer, who immediately arrested him.

It is charged that both of these men have been implicated in numerous holdups and robberies throughout this section of the state. This additional charge against them may serve to unravel some of the mystery that has surrounded the death of Otto Boehme.

Mrs. O. M. Wise

Mrs. Sarah E. Wise, wife of Oliver Wise, died very suddenly at the family home, 118 Lookout avenue, Monday evening, May 5, at 7 o'clock. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family home, Second street and Lookout avenue, in charge of Rev. J. R. Burson, assisted by Rev. G. G. Kerr of Canonsburg, interment to follow in the Beallsville cemetery.

Mrs. Wise had been a member of the Washington A venue Presbyterian church for the past 17 years and was actively identified with its interests. For y ears she taught a young woman's class in the Sunday school, and at the time of her death was a member of the Woman's Missionary Society and treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church On last Sunday evening she attended services and planned to join the ladies in making a silk banner for the church at a meeting today. Her sudden death was quite a shock to her co-laborers in the congregation. as well as to the entire community.

METHODIST MEN TO EXERT FULL STRENGTH

Encouraged by the cabled approval of President Wilson, Methodist Minute Men who started the Employment Sunday movement several weeks ago are preparing to exert the full strength of their organization which has more than 60,000 members in America, to get jobs for demobilized soldiers, sailors and marines.

The movement, which began as a Methodist Centenary campaign activity, has enlisted the support of practically all the other churches not only in the 18,000 Methodist Episcopal churches, but in practically every other church in America, next Sunday, sermons will be preached and Minute Men will speak urging business men to aid the fighters.

In most of the Methodist churches members who employ men will be asked to write their names, addresses and labor requirements on a card which will be dropped into a box as they pass out of church. These cards will be turned over to the nearest U. S. employment service or to the Y. M. C. A. or other organizations co-operating with the employment service.

Inkless Pen.

To make a pen that will write without ink, get a small quantity of violet aniline from a drug store, and some gum arabic. Dissolve a little of the gum in warm water, and mix with the violet aniline until a paste is formed. Apply it to the inside hollow of a new pen nib, just above the split. To write with the inkless pen it is only necessary to dip it in water. Shake away the drops, but do not wipe the pen. After a few moments it will be possible to write quite well.

Reading by Ear.

A new invention for the blind enables them to read with their ears. It is a machine called an octophone, by means of which flashes of light from the letters as they are printed cause certain sounds, easily distinguishable by the initiated. The sounds vary with the shapes of the letters, and very high resistance telephones transmit these to the ears of the blind person, "reading" with highly satisfactory results.

Rum distilled from molasses was among Philadelphia's principal manufactures before the revolution. Dr. Benjamin Rush wrote to "Mad Anthony" Wayne after the capture of Stony Point: "Our street rang with nothing but your name. OPINION AGAINST RAILROAD COMPANY

In an opinion handed down by Judge McIlvaine on Saturday in the case of Stanley Provost against the director general of railroads, the defendant's motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict is refused and the court orders that judgment be entered in favor of the plaintiff on the verdict of the jury.

In this case which was tried at the last term of common pleas court, the plaintiff sought to recover damages for an automobile coal truck destroyed by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad at the Ninth street crossing in Monongahela. The truck was struck by a passenger train in January 1918. The driver escaped serious injury and perhaps death by leaping from the machine just before it was struck. The jury awarded the plaintiff damages in the sum of $1,650. Before the case was given to the jury the court refused the defendant's motion to give the jury binding instructions to find for the plaintiff. After a lengthy opinion in which many decisions of the supreme court arecited thelocal court was of the opinion that this case was for the jury to decide.

FIRST CIRCUS TO ARRIVE MAY 15TH

The Carl Hagenbeck and Great Wallace Shows Combined will visit Charleroi on Thursday May 15. For more than a quarter of a century the Great Wallace Circus was the best in all the land. Several years ago the big circus was consolidated with Carl Hagenbeck's trained wild animal exhibition. Carl Hagenbeck before his death was the "animal king" and the combination of the two shows for a single price of admission makes it something unheard of in the amusement world.

Today the circus has reached a size that is giving the railroads much concern. If the three trains were any longer they could not handle them It enrolls over 1255 people, a thousand of whom travel along with the show. It has 750 horses, three herds of elephants, and 600 other animals. All of the equipment throughout this season is new. It cost $3,000,000. The parade alone represents a cash outlay of $1,000,000. The menagerie is worth half as much. The best circus artists in the world have been engaged for this season there are 387 of them.

MONONGAHELA WILL HAVE CHATAUQUA

Monongahela will have a seven-day Chautauqua this year, and the tentative dates are from July 6 to 12 inclusive. A splendid array of talent will be presented and the people of our neighboring town are looking forward in delightful anticipation to the many excellent educational and entertaining features to be presented.

A Victory Liberty loan meeting will be held at Speers this evening, with Lieut. Clarence O. Devore of Monongahela as the principal speaker.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church.

An Indianapolis seventh grade was studying the gender of nouns. As a final review the teacher asked the pupil to give a few definitions. Masculine gender was defined and then came the request for a definition of the feminine. Alice, whose mother is a rather noted feminist, recited: "Feminine gender is the gender that opposes masculine."

Boots Waterproof.

To make boots waterproof mix equal parts of mutton fat, beeswax and sweet oil together in a small pan, heat over stove until melted, then after the mixture has cooled a little apply it to the boots plentifully, particularly about the seams and edge of soles, and that will really render them perfectly waterproof.

Cleaning Bottles.

When the inside of a bottle contains some deposit which cannot be removed by mere rinsing it will be found that a teaspoonful of ordinary silver sand, together with a little water, if well shaken up in the bottle, will get rid of it. Scraps of paper and tea leaves can be used with water for the same purpose.

How to Capture Beaver.

As compared with the otter or mink, the beaver is a very slow swimmer. His front legs hang by his side, and he uses only his webbed hind feet for purposes of swimming. It is easy to capture one in a canoe if you can find him in shallow water. He is a most determined fighter, but clumsy and easy to handle. If he could get hold of you with his teeth he would almost take a leg off, so you need to watch him sharply. The way to seize him is by the tail.

Airplanes Will Help Surveyors.

In the arid wastes of Australia, where travel is exceedingly difficult and painful, and is like regions in the deserts of Africa, airplanes will make it easy to survey more square miles in a month than could be seen by means of any land vehicles in a year. It will be possible to get a true bird's-eye view of every part of the earth's surface. No dangers involved in such work are likely to daunt men who have faced and survived the perils of aerial fighting.

Eat to Break Up Cold.

When a cold first starts physicians usually advise a light laxative diet, consisting chiefly of hot lemonade or orangeade, broths or gruels, with crisp toast, baked potatoes, mild, stewed fruits and vegetables. After this for a few days, until the cold seems to be broken, it is well to eat an ordinary diet, with plenty of fruits and vegetables. To aid the body in recovering eat meals which give more fuel value than usual.

Words That Are Most Used.

It is declared by a philologist that nine words do one-fourth of our verbal work. The nine most useful words are: And, be, have, it, of, the, to, will, you. The 34 more that, with these nine, do half our literary work, are: About, all, as, at, but, can, come, day, dear, for, get, go, hear, her, if, in, me, much, not, on, one, say, she, so, that, there, they, this, though, time, we, with, write, your.

Babylon, at the height of her greatness, had nothing to learn from the most modern maker of bricks in the matter of the durability of her product; whilst the modern maker of bricks has still much to learn from Babylon in the matter of those wonderful colored glazes by which the Babylonish brickmaker added to the gorgeousness of the city of Sargon and Nebuchadnezzar.

Introduced Chrysanthemums.

It was in the autumn of 1808, that the first bunch of chrysanthemums was seen in Paris, brought by a Frenchman from far-off Japan. His first care was to present them to the Empress Josephine, who was delighted with the flowers and introduced their cultivation in French gardens.—Christian Science Monitor.

Not Like a Circus.

Herbie volunteered to take his aunts out walking. They went to the big museum, and one aunt asked, "I wonder if they charge admission." Herbie reassured them: "Oh, no, aunty, you don't have to pay here, this is a museum, all the animals are dead."

Packing a Trunk.

When packing an old trunk or box, list each article, package or roll on a sheet of paper and fasten to the top of the box or trunk, or use a memorandum book for all, designating each receptacle. Then when wanting an article to use refer to the list, thereby saving time and trouble.

Chinese Method of Beckoning.

The Chinese do not beckon as we do, with the palm of the hand turned up, the finger curled and the index finger successively bending and straightening. They beckon with the fingers curled downwards, sweeping the whole hand vigorously back and forth.

Cleaning an Umbrella.

To clean an umbrella place a tablespoonful of sugar in a basin, pour over it half a pint of boiling water and stir till dissolved. Then open the umbrella and, starting from the ferrule, sponge each gore down to the point. Leave the umbrella open till dry.

All great expression, which, on a superficial survey, seems so easy as well as so simple, furnishes, after a while, to the faithful observer, its own standard by which to appreciate it.—Margaret Fuller.

MYSTERY MAKES IT IMPOSSIBLE

"Tanlac." There is magic in its name, which is today a household word in this community, where its fame is as widespread as the bright, smiling sunshine.

Tanlac is the result of scientific research. Its ingredients are gathered from the remotest parts of the earth and compounded by skilled chemists even as mysteriously as famous mineral waters are formed. The science of man, competitive chemist skill and acquired medical lore are set at definite insofar as imitation is concerned.

Tanlac has, and is now proving invaluable in cases of stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as catarrh. As a general tonic and stomachic for half-sick, run-down, listless men and women, it builds up the system, creates a healthy appetite, promotes digestion, vitalizes the blood and brings back color to the cheeks and the sparkle of health to the eyes.

"Tanlac quickly built up my poor, run-down system like new," said Mrs. A. M. Reboul, 1827 N. 9th St., Philadelphia. Thousands have made similar statements in behalf of Tanlac.

Tanlac is sold here by Frank J. Johns and Pipers Pharmacy, and other leading druggists everywhere.

The car a new one and used for the first time on Saturday last, was a complete wreck.

FAYETTE COUNTY WAGE SCALE NOT SETTLED

The building trades in and about Uniontown, contrary to other reports, are at a standstill, because of the demands of the employes. It was reported on Thursday that the differences between the men and contractors had been adjusted, but this seems to have been a mistake. All building operations in that section are at a standstill, the same as they are here, with but little prospect of an early adjustment.

There appears to be a diversity of wage scales in Fayette county, in Connellsville the carpenters receiving 62 1-2 cents an hour and in Scottdale 58 cents an hour, while in Uniontown the scale last year was 75 cents, while they are asking 87 1-2 cents. The builders' exchange of Uniontown will meet next Monday evening to further discuss the situation.

UNSCRAMBLING THE EGGS

Let there be no mistake, the controversy between the Director General of Railroads and the Industrial Board affects the entire economic structure of America. The future holds potentialities of the gravest nature. Unless this controversy is settled wisely and promptly the country may suffer grievously. No one can foretell the results of indecision or delay.

The crying need of America today is stabilization of industry pending a return of normal conditions. Industry cannot be stabilized until a barometer is established by which business men may be guided in their immediate commitments. There is no dodging these facts. The method is the only concern of intelligent men. How shall the eggs be unscrambled? Shall our business be reorganized through orderly processes or shall it be rebuilt on the wreck of a panic?

When the armistice was signed the President and his advisors were too much engrossed in other matters to consider the welfare of America. Nothing was done to meet the situation. Time passed. Business appealed to Washington for a reconstruction program, for a demobolization plan and received many high-sounding promises. But nothing was done.

Finally, William M. Ritter and a group of hard headed business men in the War Industries Board, realizing that the Government was doing nothing, applied themselves to the problem. A searching investigation showed that it would be absurd to expect the laws of supply and demand to function in the industrial demoralization that had resulted from the war. Markets, prices and supplies had been turned topsy-turvy, so that no single rule could be supplied to the general situation. Prices were as variable as the winds. Each industry required special attention.

An artificial—or, if you will, a semi-socialistic—plan of scaffolding prices downward offered the only means of forestalling chaos. It was not agreeable. Any other plan would have been preferable. But it was the only method that could be evolved to meet the situation.

Economies and an immediate reduction were desirable, but any sudden cuts would wrench the entire fabric and cause the very demoralization which must be avoided. Labor put the blame for high prices on the profiteers. Capital blamed them on labor. They both demanded everything they could hope to get. The facts showed that the cost of production had soared first, and that labor had then followed suit as rapidly as its demands could be enforced. An agreement was reached whereby the peaks of production-cost should be lowered, and the entire cost of living be reduced little by little, with wages following on an equal basis.

The plan looked fair. It was surely the most equitable one presented up to date. The Government was invited to support it. The President demurred. Then the Cabinet, with Mr. Hines sitting in, argued that it was essential for such a policy to be put into effect, and the President cabled his approval.

The Industrial Board was created and its membership approved by the President. The board announced that it would investigate costs and suggest prices that might be accepted as fair for a given period. It was essential that the Government should its support to the markets in purchasing at those prices. Such was the agreement made by the Cabinet and approved by the President and Mr. Hines.

The first prices presented to the Price Control Committee by the Industrial Board were rejected on the ground that they were too high although they represented a considerable reduction over the last previous prices paid for similar products.

Not content with refusing to assist the stabilization process by buying, he made a general attack upon the Industrial Board. His attack was as gratuitous as it was insulting. He criticised the personnel of the board, denied its authority, and insisted that he would have nothing to do with it or his work. He misused his official position to jeopardize the only plan for readjustment of business that had been presented to the country, and apprehension supplanted the optimism which business men generally had begun to feel.

We do not know or pretend to know what actuated Mr. Hines in his violent attack. But irrespective of the cause which led to Mr. Hines' strange actions and stranger outbursts, we believe that the President's duty in the circumstances is so clear that he should no longer delay action. He should throw the full force of his authority behind a wise fair and judicious administration of the plan worked out by the Industrial Board, and if Mr. Hines or anybody else attempts to block the way, he should be removed without a moment's delay.—Harvey's Weekly.

The responsibility for war rests upon two classes of people, the bully who thinks he can scare other people into sacrificing their own rights and interests, and the pacifists, whose pusillanimous conduct when threatened gives the bully the basis for his belief. The man who will not stand up for his own rights is just as contemptible as the bully who tramples on other people.

North Dakota's first Non-Partisan party legislature added a few hundred more names to the public payroll and increased taxes 21 per cent, besides providing for a bond issue of about forty dollars per inhabitant. Socialism comes high, but some people profess to believe they must have it.

Charleroi has been very fortunate in the way of securing special attractions for the Victory Loan campaign. First the tank, next the trophy train, and now the "Devil Dogs." In former loans we had our share, with naval and marine bands, not to mention some excellent speakers.

We cannot expect to interfere in the affairs of foreign countries without having them messing with ours. "Untangling alliances" are just as repugnant to the American people today as they were when General Washington made his farewell address.

The Victory Liberty Loan campaign is nearing its close—if you wish to see your share of these bonds, now is the time to act.

Both the Maxwell and Rider mines of the Warner-Yough Coal Company are one hundred per cent in subscribing to the Victory Liberty loan, having reached that desirable position on Saturday.

Considering the fact a peace conference is now in session in Paris, which has for its object the banishment of war, there appears to be an awful lot of hostilities going on now between certain European countries.

California has passed a law making ten hours a day's work for domestic servants, including the cook. However, the difficult thing is to find the servants.

Wind That Scorches.

The name "harmattan" has been given to a dry hot wind which blows from the interior of Africa toward the Atlantic during December, January and February. Every plant, every bit of grass and leaf in its course is withered as though it had been seared by heat from a furnace.

Point of Natural History.

Two small boys were awaiting their teacher on the sidewalk. One began to crawl on hands and knees, unmindful of clean white stockings, and was corrected by the other lad, but would not arise, as he said he was a lion. "Lions don't walk that way," said the second little fellow, "they walk on their foots."

The Guitar.

The guitar is an instrument of six strings, viz E A, D, G, B, E. The strings, if sounded together, would not make a chord according to the rules of modern harmony. It is not a difficult instrument to learn and its chief use is in accompanying another instrument or the voice in singing.

Old University.

Cracow has the oldest university, barring that of Prague, in central Europe. It once numbered among its students Copernicus, who originated and proved the remarkable theory that the earth revolved about the sun, and not contrariwise.

Too Cannibalistic, Perhaps.

"A Russian announces that donkeys are 'good to eat,'" remarks the Carthage Free Press. "When it gets to that point, we know of one person who is going to sign up to observe 'meatless days.'"—Kansas City Times.

Instinct of Brotherhood.

The moment we can use our possessions to any good purpose ourselves the instinct of communicating that use to others rises side by side with our power.—Ruskin.

WOULD RATHER FIGHT THAN WORK

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and could not eat and just hated for anyone to say work to me. I would rather fight. Since taking a course of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy I actually want to work, and talk about eat, I am the last one to leave the table now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Mrs. Graf Says Vinol Cured Her

Darlington, Pa.—"I suffered from bronchial Asthma so badly I would often have to sit up half of the night or lean over the back of a chair and so weak I could hardly walk across the floor. I had spent lots of money for different Asthma medicines without help—but Vinol helped me so I sleep well, and am so well and strong I am doing all my work on the farm."—Mrs. Emma Graf.

Vinol is a constitutional remedy which contains beeef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates. We strongly recommend Vinol.

Puritanic Names.

Faint-not, God-reward, North, Meek Repentance, Kill-sin, Be faithful, More fruit, Seek-wisdom, Accepted, Return, Hope-for, Weep-not; Fly-debate, and Stand-fast-on-high! Yes, these were all perfectly good front names in Mayflower times. They represent some of the flower of a Puritan jury. But think what an awful time the wives and sweethearts of these gentlemen must have had finding nick-names for them!

Well-Preserved Stakes.

Some of the piles in use in Amsterdam are three to four hundred years old. That part which is not in the ground in salt water is often bored by a pile worm near the surface, but is preserved by driving in nails with very large heads, so as to give the pile an iron coating. This coating is then transformed by the water into a layer of rust, which protects the wood from the pile worm. This process must be repeated every fifteen years.

Failure as a Success.

Whether man has had wealth or poverty, failure or success, counts for little when it is past. There is but one question for him to answer, to face boldly and honestly as an individual alone with his conscience and his destiny. "How will I let that poverty or wealth affect me? If that trial or deprivation has left me better, nobler, then poverty has been riches, failure has been a success."

EXPLOSION WAS CAUSED BY GAS

A leakage in the gas main is now believed to have been the cause of the explosion which wrecked the Brownsville borough building early Friday morning. Several expert opinions have agreed that a possibility of the gas entering the building through the crevices opened in the ground during the reconstruction operations in the immediate vicinity caused the $2000 damage was done. Windows were shattered in all parts of the building, plastering knocked from the walls in the burgess' office and in the hallway and a large safe was torn in the center of the floor in the burgess' office, causing a portion of the debris to fall into the cells in the basement of the building, which were at the time there were eight prisoners.

"Pals" With His Daddy.

The other evening I had company, and of course my small brother had to be on hand, and as usual was tormenting me. After so long a time, I said, "If you don't behave I will send you in to papa," and as he always has an answer for everything, I was not surprised to hear him say, "Well, I'm not afraid of dad, 'cause we are old pals."—Chicago Tribune.

Zinc Shapes at Boiling Point.

Zinc is ductile between 212 and 302 degrees Fahrenheit and can then be shaped as required. But when either above or below these points it becomes brittle and unpliant and therefore not adapted for treatment. It melts at about 786 degrees Fahrenheit if volatilization is guarded against.

Tit-for Tat.

A very fat man was much amused by the ludicrous appearance of a bow-legged youth, who called upon him with a message. By jingo," he exclaimed, "you look as if you'd been riding a barrel!" The bow-legged one smiled as he retorted: "And you look as if you'd been swallowing one!"

Had a Narrow Escape.

"Yes, sir," remarked the pompous individual in the noisy clothes "I'm a self-made man, sir—and the architect of my own fortune." "Well," rejoined the matter-of-fact person addressed, "it's a lucky thing for you that the building inspector didn't come along at the time."—London Tit-Bits.

Questioned by a curious friend as to the cause of the sudden change he said "I sure was in bad shape and no one knew it better than I did. I was my goat for fair. I was all in, my nerves shot to pieces with nervousness and sleepless nights. One day I overheard a customer telling what Phosphated Iron had done for him and I could not get a supply quick enough.

"THE SPIRIT OF MEMORIALS"

As the spring blossoms into summer we feel, some of us, the absense of those dear ones who have passed to "the beyond." We miss their laughter, their kindnesses, their caresses. Ought we not give actual expression to the loving remembrance in which they are held?

The custom of marking their resting places is as old and as beautiful as the old, old world itself.

We cannot honor our loved ones more, nor perpetuate their memory more effectively, than by the erection of a monument. Properly carved by a master artisan, such a memorial is a lasting tribute to our affection for them.

Is there not some one whose memory deserves this recognition from you?

Religious Publication Points Out Strong and Deplorable Contrasts Existing in Alaska.

The native Alaskan of today is becoming in some sections, an intelligent and progressive factor in the life of the territory. Recently a daughter of the Hydah tribe made application for United States citizenship, and after examination was pronounced qualified to exercise intelligently the duties of an elector—the first native woman of Alaska to receive citizenship. Her father is a staunch elder of the Hydaburg Presbyterian church. All through southeastern Alaska, natives are taking up homesteads, organizing villages upon sound civic principles, reading the daily papers, putting telephones and electric lights into their homes—in a word, are proving the value of Christian citizenship.

But there is another side to the picture and the contrast between the unchurched and the Christian Alaskans is distressing. Scores of villages in the Bristol bay region live where no Protestant missionary has ever been, and the one Greek priest who had ministered to the needs of 1,700 people is now dead. The revolution in Russia has cut off the support of Russian missions in Alaska, leaving the spiritual destitution and physical wretchedness of large numbers of these people wholly unrelieved.—The Home Mission Monthly.

HONOR IS GIVEN TO ITALY

Pisa and Venice Proved to Have Sent Explorers to River Niger Four Hundred Years Ago.

The director of the French school in Rome, Monsignor Duchesne, has sent the president of the Royal Italian Geographical society a letter which accompanies a brief note, most interesting to us, regarding the discovery of the narrative of a journey in central Sudan at the time when the republics of Pisa and Venice had stipulated with the sultan of Maghreb for special treaties in which he conceded to the Italians the right to pass through central Africa on the Niger.

The letter says:

"I write to inform you of an interesting discovery made by Charles de la Ronciere, curator of prints in the national library of Paris and, author of important books on the French navy. The discovery restores to Italy the honor of having visited and described the African regions of Tuat and the Niger four centuries before the explorations of Rohlf and Challie, the first a German and the last a Frenchman."

The account given of Tuat in 1447 is signed by an Italian by the name of Antonio Malfante and is directed to the Genoese Giovanni Mariono. He was the first Christian to penetrate to that oasis.—Italian American News Bureau.

What Germans Must Do.

Under the title "Conquest and Kultur," the committee on public information issued a compilation of quotations from German writers and speakers, including the kaiser himself, to show the Teutonic worship of the war god and greed for world conquest." The pamphlet, compiled by Profs. Wallace Notestein and Elmer E. Stoll of the University of Minnesota, assisted by faculties of their own and other universities, has a foreword by Guy Stanton Ford, saying:

"No peace can ever make of Germany a fit partner for a league of honor until the German people have driven out the spirit which inspired these utterances in their name."

Work of Bureau of Standards.

One of the many new undertakings of the bureau of standards is an investigation of magnetic compasses, in behalf of the naval observatory, the joint army and navy board of specifications, and the shipping board. The bureau proposes to develop a standard method of testing compasses and to prepare specifications for the purchase of compasses by the government. A special form of magnetometer has been devised for the determination of magnetic moment and a rotation test for pivot friction is being developed. The bureau expects to test several thousand compasses in the course of the present year.

The day of the peace celebration at Chicago the school children, acting of their own volition, formed a parade and carried out a program, which included singing patriotic songs, after which they took up a collection for the united war work fund. Buddy had kept pace with the older children in everything, singing when they sang, whether the songs were familiar to him or not. When he told about it that evening his mother asked: "What was it you sang?" "Oh, I don't know what we sang," answered Buddy, still enthusiastic over his part in the celebration, "but I sang just the same."

Helped Burn Emperor's Effigy.

During the celebration of victory at Genoa, Italy, a characteristic episode occurred in front of the Garibaldi monument. A group of English sailors surrounded by an immense crowd held a mock trial about the effigy of Emperor Charles of Austria. They condemned him to death and hanged the effigy on a pole, afterward applying the torch. The pole and the effigy were consumed. The Americans and the English took part in all the Italian celebrations with great enthusiasm.

PROVED TRUTH OF OLD ADAGE

That "a Little Learning Is a Dangerous Thing" Seems Shown by This Anecdote.

A certain lawyer of a bygone generation, Mass Jones by name, had a case before a justice of the peace out in the country, says Case and Comment. He was for the defendant, while a wiseacre of a schoolmaster who had picke up a few Latin words, appeared for the plaintiff.

The fac ' were all in the schoolmaster's favor, and in summing up he would exclaim with great gusto as he made his points. "and that is the summum bonum of the matter, and the case must g. to the plaintiff."

Mass had really no defense, but his ready wit and keen sense of the ridiculous supplied him with one. So when he came to reply he said to the justice, "I have a great regard for that old law of summum bonum, on which the gentleman wholly relies, for its antiquity. It was an old English law, and served well its day and generation. But the people finally outgrew it and became dissatisfied with it; and it was one of the laws England tried to force upon the colonies.

"But," said Mass, raising his voice and arm on high, "our forefathers fought and spilt their blood in the Revolution to overthrow that law, and they did overthrow it, and then they reared in its stead the law of e pluribus unum, which must govern this case."

Thereupon the justice said, "I have a great deal of respect myself for that old English law, summum bonum. It was good enough for that time, and good enough for the English, but I agree with Mr. Jones that our forefathers tumbled that law over in the Revolution, and this case will be decided in favor of the defendant under the law of e pluribus unum, which was put in its place."

KING ARTHUR'S ROUND TABLE

Legend of Sir Galahad and the "Holy Graal" as Recorded by English Writers.

Sir Galahad of Tennyson's "The Holy Graal," was the noblest and purest knight of the Round Table. The title was invented by Walter Map in the "Quest of the Graal." Morley, in his "English Writers," says Sir Galahad was the son of Map's L'Ancelot and Elaine. The son and namesake of Joseph of Arimathea, Bishop Joseph, to whom the holy dish was bequeathed, first instituted the Order of the Round Table. The initiated at their festivals sat as apostle knights round the table, with the Holy Graal in the midst, leaving one seat vacant as that which the Lord had occupied and which was reserved for a descendant of Joseph, named Galahad. Whatever man else attempted to sit in the place of Galahad the earth swallowed. It was called therefore the Siege (seat) Perilous. When men became sinful, the Holy Graal, visible only to pure eyes, disappeared. On its recovery depended the honor and peace of England, but only Sir Galahad, who was at the appointed time brought to the knights by a mysterious old man clothed in white, and placed in the Siege Perilous—only the pure Sir Galahad succeeded in the quest.

Gulls as Human Food.

"The flesh of gulls," says one of the best-known cyclopedias, "is rank and coarse." So it is. You have only to shoot a gull and cook it to find this is the case, and that as a dinner dish it is a complete failure.

Yet in Iceland gull flesh is one of the principal winter foods of the people. There, in early summer, when the cliffs swarm with nesting gulls, parties are organized and men are let down over the lofty precipices by ropes. They catch young gulls, which are as fat as butter, and send them up to the top in sacks. The moment they reach the top the birds are skinned. A great caldron of boiling water is ready and into this the bodies are dipped and held for a few seconds. This completely does away with the fishy taste, and the birds are then taken home and hung in smoke until they are thoroughly dried.

When winter comes they are cooked and eaten, and are as delicate as any chicken or game bird, but far more fat and nourishing.

Air Gliders.

No one knows how long ago ambitious navigators learned to hitch their frail barks to the breeze to carry their cargoes, but it is certain that in the very early ages the pines and other tall trees learned to take advantage of the wind in like manner, as a means of spreading their seeds, writes Herbert W. Faulkner in his book, "Mysteries of the Flowers." So each seed was built like a biplane or air glider. We have seen them floating down from maple trees and twirling as they slowly fell. The lightest breeze can carry them a long way ere they reach the ground. We find similar seed sowing practiced by the elm, ash, birch, hornbeam, linden and catalpa.

Seward is a favorite in the neighborhood. One afternoon he was wending his way homeward and dinnerward, accompanying himself with the most heartrending howls and mournful noises.

A young neighbor, thinking something dreadful had happened to him, called out: "Why, what's the matter, Seward?"

He called back: "Oh, nothing! I'm just happy!"

Are you Starving your Battery?

You can't tell whether your battery is hungry or not by merely looking at it, or by the way it acts, for a half charged battery will spin the engine with all the vim, apparently, of a fully charged one, and will keep the lights almost as bright.

But wait! Do you know what a starved battery is? Its one that wont hold a charge—a battery that has been repeatedly undercharged.

To insure long life and satisfactory services your battery must be kept fully charged and the cells filled with distilled water 1-2 inch above the tops of the plates. Never fill the cells full. Come to us and have your battery tested twice each month. This service is free and may save you needless trouble and expense.
